To the Editor: With regard to the present controversy over the city baseball title we the undersigned managers representing three of the four contending teams wish to make the following statement:

1.—In the Interlake West End Merchants game of Labor Day afternoon the West End Merchants hit the ball in the first half of the 4th inning with the Interlake at bat. In this inning scored 5 hits had been made 4 runs scored with 2 men on bases and 1 out. Sternbach hit a line drive along the third base line which the umpire called a fair ball and to which the Merchants objected. When their objection was not upheld they left the field claiming the umpire unfair. The score stood 8 to 4 in favor of the Interlake at this time. The Interlake team has played 28 games this season and this was the only game in which a team left the field. This however made the fourth game of the season in which the Merchants left the field claiming unfair decisions.

2.—The statements that the Foresters had beaten the Interlake and that the Merchants had won from the Foresters were true but in neither case were the losers represented by their regular team.

3.—The Arcade Merchants game of last Sunday also ended in a dispute the Merchants claiming the game

HOUDINI INVENTS
NEW DIVING SUIT

Former Appleton Boy Will Turn
Safe Submerging Device
Over to Government

Harry Houdini, former Appleton boy but now New York film star heading his own company, has invented a new type of diving suit which he declares would have saved Vincent de Gennaro's life had he worn it in his recent fatal exploration of the bottom of Harlem river, New York.

Gennaro's death occurred several days ago when his lifeline became entangled with his guide line while diving in the depths of the murky river. This accident could not have occurred with one of the new suits Houdini claims.

The former Appletonian invented his diving suit after he had seen a friend who was a diver drown in Australia. The tragedy so impressed the film man that he determined to make similar accidents impossible in the future and he persevered until he had perfected the new outfit.

Houdini's suit is so made that the diver may put it on or take it off without help and may remove it quickly in case of danger while submerged. Another marked improvement in the new suit is that it prevents the diver from being crushed by the water pressure if the air supply gives out.

FLYING GLASS IS CAUSE OF DEATH OF LIBERTY WOMAN

Mrs. Nicholas Squatige's Jugular Vein is Severed When Door Pane Breaks

Struck by a flying sliver of glass when a door banged shut Mrs. Nicholas Squatige, 17, of the town of Liberty died to death in the yard of their farm home five miles west of Shiocton late Thursday.

The glass had struck her throat with such force that it severed the jugular vein and caused her death before help came.

Mrs. Squatige had gone to the barn about 4:30 in the afternoon to take refreshments to her husband and a neighbor Van Oakes who were hauling flax from a nearby field. As they drove out of the barn Mrs. Squatige returned to the house.

When the two men returned from the field with the next load they found the woman's body near the barn and immediately suspecting foul play they traced the trail of blood to the back door and found that the glass in the upper half of the door had been broken out. Slivers of glass lay all about and on the door step was a pool of blood.

It is believed that just as Mrs. Squatige reached the open door a gust of wind blew through the open front door hanging the rear door shut and sending a shower of glass around her, a piece of which penetrated her throat.

Evidently trying to call for help the woman had walked out past the barn to attract the attention of the men in the field. Weak from loss of blood, she had been unable to go any further.

She is survived by her husband and five months old son and her father who lives in Waupaca. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the house and burial will be at Lynn Center.

DIPHTHERIA CASES ARE HELD IN CHECK

Fear of Epidemic Wanes Since Caution Was Exercised by All Concerned

The diphtheria scare to which parents of school children and the public generally was subjected early in the week has about subsided and the indications are that no further cases will be reported.

Prompt action and the cooperation of parents, teachers and health officials saved the city from a possible epidemic. Some of the parents have suggested the disinfecting of the books in the first ward school, where the disease made its appearance, and this the health officer has agreed to do providing the books are placed in one room.

The five cases reported early in the week are being given every attention and the quarantine is such it is believed there will be no exposures.

Mrs. Mary Berg of Carthage, S. D., was called here by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Katherine Butler, 575 Walnut st. Although Mrs. Butler is not in a critical condition she has been seriously ill for months.

Utica, Pa.—The Spectacles you sent me are the best I ever bought. I was being blind before I got them. Now I can see to do the very most work with them as I am a machinist by trade. Thank God I don't think I will lose my eyesight as long as I buy spectacles from you. I think it was a God's blessing I answered your advertisement in the paper. This is nothing but the God's truth I have written and I could swear to it on a stack of Bibles.

TWIN CITIES TO FIGHT GAS RATE RAISE IN COURTS

File Appeal in Dane-co. From Commission's Decision to Increase Gas Rates

Appealing from the recent decision of the Wisconsin railroad commission authorizing the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company to raise gas rates, the cities of Neenah and Menasha have instituted action in the Dane-co. circuit court.

Councils of the two cities decided upon this course after recommendations for such action had been received from the Neenah Civic association. The raise in rates becomes effective in the two cities this month.

A letter to the council from the civic association sets forth views as to why the rate raise should be opposed. In this it is pointed out that the outstanding tendency of the times is the reduction in the price of necessities and that on this account any move to increase prices should be discouraged.

It was also said that the new gas rate in the two cities is very much higher than those of Chicago which is now fighting for a decrease, before the Illinois commerce commission. The letter declared that other cities in the state had fought increased rates on public utilities and had succeeded in keeping them down. It urged Neenah to follow this example.

While Neenah took the initiative in opposing the new rate, Menasha seemed to concur in the fight and it was said that there would be little doubt that the two cities would stand side by side in the action in the Dane-co. court.

HAD NO GROUNDS FOR INJURY CLAIM

Menasha Woman's Suit Against Traction Company Thrown Out of Court

Because the court ruled that there was insufficient grounds for action, the case of Mrs. Ida Schanka of Menasha against the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company for $10,000 damages for personal injuries has been thrown out of Winnebago circuit court now in session.

Mrs. Schanka's action was one of five suits against the traction company to recover damages for personal injury. When alighting from a street car in Menasha last December Mrs. Schanka slipped and fell and she alleged that the injury thus incurred was permanent and was caused by ice on the car steps, left there by the negligence of company employees.

The traction company showed the court that this charge was false and the non-suit action dismissing the case was admitted by the court. Mr. and Mrs. William Ludeman of Neenah are each suing the company for $5,000 and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langner of Larsen are suing for an aggregate of $12,000 for injuries received when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by an interurban car on a country road crossing.

FARMERS MAKE MERRY AT OLD-TIME HUSKIN' BEE

An old fashioned husking bee was held on the farm of Thomas Prunty, town of Hortonla, New London-nd., Friday evening. Young and old from the entire countryside gathered in the field which was illuminated by lanterns and made merry while the work progressed. No record was kept of the number of red ears or the names of the girls that discovered them. The field operations were followed by a lunch and general good time.

TRUST FUND WILL HELP CLOTHIERS

Local Firms Are Asked to Aid Firms Suffering From Pueblo Flood

Local members of the National Association of Retail Clothiers have been requested by their association to assist the clothiers of Pueblo, Colo., who recently had their stores swept away by a flood.

More than 20 retail clothing firms suffered a total or nearly total loss of their stock and fixtures and unlike a fire there was no insurance to even partially reimburse them for their loss.

The money to be raised, not less than $75,000, is not to be a gift or contribution. It is merely to be an amount advanced to create a trust fund. The money then will be loaned to the Pueblo clothiers in such amount and on such terms of repayment as the committee in charge, after careful investigation, decides is proper, but not more than $5,000 will be loaned to any one firm.

In the main business section of the city the water reached a height of 15 feet above sidewalk level. Buildings by the score were demolished or swept away. In others that withstood the shock the water rushed through stores carrying stocks and fixtures before it.

While no concerted action will be taken by local members it is possible that quite a sum of money will be forwarded to the relief committee.

One Darn Thing After Another With Freshies

Take it off, push the button or salute?

That is the question which is both ering one of the freshmen at Lawrence college. One of them or probably most of them, are wondering what to do to be polite when they meet a young lady on the street. Obviously to search about for the little green covering is anything but graceful. To push the button on the top would never do because it would put the year men in a ridiculous aspect and even the trampled-on freshman pride couldn't stand that. The salute? Well the consensus of opinion that the salute would be the best, but it is still a debatable question.

Performance, the Buyer's Guide

In design, appointment and finish, Paige 6-66 models challenge the most artistic achievements in motordom.

But really fine cars are measured by performance—not by paint or price. Superiority must be revealed mainly in terms of action.

Therein lies the significance of the attested records of Paige 6-66 models on track and hill—not so much because of the exceptional speed and power these records revealed, as for the stamina they demonstrated.

This superiority of performance and guarantee of long life have been the principal factors in shattering the "price myth." From the standpoint of appearance, performance and sound investment the Paige 6-66 easily determines for the buyer the price he should pay for a truly fine car.

Constitutional prohibition was brought about in the United States by the abuses of the liquor traffic. The movement was directed primarily against the saloon, a vicious and degrading institution peculiarly American and its extinction brings no regret to any conscientious citizen. Prohibition triumphed because the intelligent people of the country, both drinkers and non-drinkers, recognized the fact that the wiping out of the liquor traffic as carried on by the saloon and the vast distilling and brewing interests back of it was detrimental to the health and to the social and economic welfare of the nation. It was aimed at the excesses of an obvious evil. It was not the product of fanaticism, but the result of well-ordered thinking on the subject by serious men and women.

There was no thought when the eighteenth amendment was adopted that it would be carried to the extremes it has been. We do not believe there was any purpose on the part of the great body of citizens who made this change in our fundamental law possible that it should interfere with the private or home life of the individual. We do not believe it was intended to lay the American home open to suspicion, interference or invasion. What a man in his home saw fit to eat, drink, or prepare for his own use, was regarded as his own business, and not the business of the state or of a prohibition sleuth.

The latest ruling of department of justice officials charged with administration of the prohibition law has no relation to the reasons which impelled the American people to adopt the eighteenth amendment and it sets up in principle abrogation of a right which has always been laid to be a fundamental civil liberty, viz: the security of the home and freedom of conscience within it. At no time previously have we recognized authority which exposed the home to search without due process of law, or which exercised dictatorial power over personal habits. We now have for the first time the creation of this doctrine in the ruling which forbids the making of alcoholic beverages within the home for home consumption.

In our opinion, this is a radical step which threatens the prohibition amendment itself. Ever since the amendment was adopted and congress undertook to define its meaning and the courts and officials undertook to interpret the law, there has been a constant invasion of personal liberty, of the home and of the conscience. One extreme has followed another until we have now reached the point where, if the principle established is valid, there is nothing to prevent zealotry in this country from saying precisely how a man and his family shall live in their home, what time they shall arise in the morning, go to bed at night, when they shall eat and what they shall eat, as well as everything else they may or may not do. It strikes at the bill of civil rights and at American liberty in its basic form. If prohibition is to be administered in this relentless manner, it will, we believe, invite reaction demanding repeal of the prohibition amendment, or its modification to an extent that will nullify its real purpose and the great reform it was intended to accomplish.

LIGHT OF PUBLICITY ON DISARMAMENT

Delegates of the leading government who will participate in the disarmament conference in Washington will not act for themselves, but for the nations which they will represent. They scarcely could assume that the people in whose interest they will assemble and confer are not entitled to full information of the proceedings, or that the people are incompetent, for one reason or other, to judge as to what might be of benefit to them.

The diplomatic business of governments has been too mysterious. Statesmen have accredited themselves with superior intelligence and foresight, and though their authority has been derived from the public or they have ostensibly sought to advance the public weal, they have behaved as if they in their own opinion were exclusively qualified to decide questions of great moment. Pride of station and arrogance of power have been the cause of secret treaties and crafty agreements, inimical to the general welfare.

Senators Borah of Idaho and Harrison of Mississippi deserve and will receive the hearty and vigorous support of the nation in their bi-partisan campaign for publicity at the disarmament conference. And it is hoped that the parliaments of other governments will demand, by resolution, that the press shall be admitted to all sessions, and detailed, stenographic records be kept of all the work of the conference.

The obscurity in which the Versailles treaty was negotiated should not endanger the disarmament conference. A few men took upon themselves, in their duty, to settle the fate of millions of people, and it is possible that they laid foundations for international friction and future wars. Prevention of war is the concern of hundreds of millions of people, and the people have the right to know what the diplomats say and do.

WOMEN ARE MORE THRIFTY THAN MEN

Addressing the delegates to the National Fraternal congress, at their annual convention in Chicago, Mrs. Mary Baird, editor of the journal of the Women's Benefit association, expressed the opinion that "women are wonderful about saving" and mothers feel their responsibilities to their children more keenly than men. "Young married women," she said, "are especially thrifty."

Many excellent illustrations of the truth of these conclusions might be adduced. Girls are trained with more discipline than boys in the value of money, as they are participants with their mothers in the management of the home. Social convention properly enjoins on boys the obligation of defraying the expenses of entertaining the girls, doubtless on the practical assumption that they are the money-earners. By training and environment girls are habituated to saving, while boys by custom are spenders.

Wives have fixed allotments with which to run their home and buy their clothes, and whatever they set aside is their own. Husbands find it necessary to be spenders in their business and among their friends. Nevertheless, the fact remains that saving is not always economy in domestic affairs. To be thrifty in a petty way and extravagant or wasteful in large matters is not, strictly speaking, economy, or saving. To hoard pennies, yet pay out dollars for dress, show and entertainment is one of those eccentricities of domestic economics which leads to friction and failure.

Clever women, who really understand thrift, can shrewdly aid their husbands to success. Wives who like to live up the family income and splurge among their neighbors and associates can expel all the ambition from their partners and hamper or prevent the latter's advancement in business. As women are by training and habit savers and managers, they are the factors, as they are either selfish or unselfish, clever or foolish, of the lasting prosperity of the men.

BOOKS AND FRIENDS

One cannot celebrate books sufficiently. After saying his best, still something better remains to be spoken in their praise. As with friends, one finds new beauties at every interview, and would stay long in the presence of those choice companions. As with friends, he may dispense with a wide acquaintance. Few and choice. The richest minds need not large libraries. That is a good book which is opened with expectation and closed with profit.—A. Bronson Alcott.

PLEASANT WALKS AND TALKS

These nice Sunday walks, when two friends get to know one another so intimately, these Sunday evening talks, when you gather by two and three in the freights, and talk so freely, oh, what a power for harm, if wasted or misused. No one wants you to force the conversation into an edifying channel, but one knows how to talk bifurcates as it were, and how often there is a choice between high and low, wise and foolish, kindly and unkindly.—Elizabeth Wordsworth.

CORNCOB HAS REAL VALUE

The lowly corncob can be made into many useful articles due to a set of discoveries made in the bureau of chemistry of the Department of Agriculture. After a high grade adhesive is removed, pure cellulose, a very good quality of paper, and valuable lime products are recovered from the residue.

WOULD BE WORTH SEEING

In the geometry class a difficult problem arose. The teacher informed the pupils that he would put it on the blackboard and explain it. After carefully and tediously working on the diagram he addressed the class thus: "I want every one in this class to watch the blackboard now as I run through it."

DAM NOT BUILT BY EXPERTS

The failure of the dam which caused the famous Johnstown flood May 31, 1889 was due to defects of construction, explained by the fact that no engineer was employed in designing or building the dam.

GIRLS MUST PLAY

Here's a letter from an unfortunate girl whose education is being sadly neglected:

Dear Doctor Brady:
I am a girl 16 years old, 66 inches tall, weighing 135 pounds. I am very well built except my chest, which does not seem to develop. Could you suggest some remedy?

Another thing I would like to ask. I have continually a very tired feeling. It is not because I have too little sleep. I sleep a good deal and eat likewise. I have completed my sophomore year at school, and am now a junior, carrying an extra hard program—I study from 8.30 to 12, and again from 1.15 to 3.30, and from 5 to 6.30, taking only a short time for dinner. From 3.30 to 5 I practice singing. Another reason why I can't understand about my chest development—I have a good quantity and control of voice.

My father seems to think I work too hard. Do you? I love the work, although it does tire me out. The tired feeling has remained since school closed.

Sincerely yours,

J. P. F.

Five hours of study a day is too much for even a college girl.

Of course some students can ponder and putter and pore over books hours each day, without getting any. It is a ruinous habit, grimed. If you can't waste in and enjoy your book bath, it is better for your mental training to go without the bath.

It isn't so much the amount of study this young woman imagines she is doing. It is the amount of physical training she is not receiving.

Her father is on the right track. More power to the fathers of girls. If he will put on a Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang act, and smash one or two of the young woman's subjects—preferably the one called algebra or "Caesar's Commentaries"—and I wonder if Caesar wouldn't blush for 'em today—and send the young woman to the gymnasium for an hour a day, things will right themselves in due time.

The schools are slowly looking up. Every little while a new one is built, nowadays, with a regular gymnasium, a swimming pool and everything in it, just as the body had some connection with the brain. These are sorry times for the hand-over-school-maams who were death on whispering.

That tired feeling our young correspondent complains of—it is very popular with young people at large. It is the autointoxication that goes with sub-oxidation or insufficient drift for the vital fire. Oxygen will cure it. Exercise increases one's absorption of oxygen, as nothing else will. Physical training is good for the brain, too, you know.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Community Embroid

There has been a dispute in this community over the question, how long should a baby wear a belly band. My first child was born in the south. The physician in attendance had attended 6,000 confinement cases including mine. He said when the band was kept in longer than six weeks it weakened the growth of lungs and stomach. My doctor book says the band is worn for protection of the abdomen to start off, and should be kept on for one month in warm weather and three months in cold weather. Several mothers said it was wrong to take off the band, as they need it to brace their little backs. One young mother said she kept the bandage on her baby eight months, until he died—(Mrs. C. M. W.). Answer—The band is applied to retain the dressing on the navel, and should be left off as soon as the navel is sufficiently healed to require no further dressing, which is usually 10 days to two weeks. From the moment the band is no longer required, it becomes a source of irritation and injury to the baby, in warm or cold weather.

Mucous Colitis

What is mucous colitis? The doctor wants me to go to the hospital for a while. This I don't want to do. What would you do? (Miss J.)

Answer—Mucous colitis is an inflammation of the colon (large bowel) accompanied with an excessive secretion which is frequently discharged in shreds or mucus. The condition is usually associated with over-activity of the autonomic or sympathetic nervous system. It is perhaps natural not to want to go to the hospital, but it seems silly to consult a doctor, an often decline to take his advice.

CLEANING WATCHES WITH BREAD

Perhaps the most novel use to which bread is put may be seen in some of the great watch factories, where more than forty loaves of fresh bread are sometimes used each day.

From earliest times in the history of watchmaking it has been the custom to reduce fresh bread in the form of dough. This dough is used for removing oil and chips that naturally adhere in course of manufacture to pieces as small as the parts of a watch. There are many parts of a watch that are so small as to be barely visible to the naked eye. The oil is absorbed by this dough, and the chips stick to it, and there is no other known substance which can be used as a wiper without leaving some of its particles attached to the thing wiped.

FIRST REALLY NATIONAL BANK

Bank of North America was the name of the first bank of a national character. It had a charter for ten years, from 1741, from the confederation, but doubt as to its legality led the bank to seek and obtain a charter from the state of Pennsylvania in 1753. In 1785 this latter charter was revoked, and in 1787 it was renewed. It was located at Philadelphia.

A Private Zoo

By Frederic J. Haskin

Minneapolis, Minn.—Unique among zoological collections is that known as Longfellow Gardens near Minnehaha Falls just outside Minneapolis.

Most zoological gardens in all parts of the world are Government institutions, provided ostensibly for the education of the populace, and kept by persons who hold their places by political preference. This zoo is the work of a private individual who has collected wild animals from all parts of the world because he loves animals, starting with little capital. What is more, he seems to have made some of the animals realize and even return this love. Creatures as diverse as seals and pelicans, tigers and bears, respond to the sound of his voice and show pleasure in the touch of his hand.

Zoos in general are places where animals look supremely happy and often unhealthy to boot. There is a considerable tendency of late to make fun of them and criticize them as survivals of a more barbarous age. The custom of keeping wild animals in captivity certainly goes back to barbarous times. It was the successful warrior and monarch of the more primitive nations who first caused lions, tigers, elephants and all sorts of other strange and ferocious beasts to be brought together for his amusement. In those days, of course the animals were made to fight with each other and with men.

The Modern Zoo

Nowadays the zoo is generally about what it was then, but its ostensible purpose has been changed to suit the times. It is now justified as an educational undertaking for the benefit of the children. This educational purpose has been a good deal laughed at. One satirist asks what education there is for the average child in watching the amours of a hippopotamus or observing the technique employed by a chimpanzee to tie himself off from the habits of animals are the things best worth studying, and their habits are hopelessly cramped and distorted in cages.

A modern anthropologist contends that, in spite of the educational pretense, the motive back of the zoo today is the same one that impelled the barbaric conqueror to cause strange creatures to be brought from all parts of the world—the desire to assert power over creatures of a lower order. It flatters the vanity of the average citizen to look through the bars at some fierce creature from far away Africa and reflect that he is a part of a Government which is powerful enough to catch and confine this animal for his pleasure. Condescendingly, he offers it a peanut.

If there is any justification for confining wild animals, it is a genuine interest in them and affection for them, and the best proof of such affection is the health and happiness of the animal. Both the justification and the proof are found in Mr. Jones's little zoo. He has, for example, eight lions, and they are the fattest slickest-looking lions in the world. At least, it is hard to imagine any fatter or slicker. Two of these lions were bred and raised by Mr. Jones and have never known any world except their cage. Mr. Jones employs a professional trainer to put the lions through their tricks, but upon special occasions he himself enters the cage with them. Unlike any other trained animal master, you can see he carries no weapon, not even a whip, and yet his lions go through their paces with perfect docility. One one occasion one of the lions uttered a few snarls, but Mr. Jones explained that he had recently been deprived of his mate for a time and was therefore in bad humor. One of the tricks performed consisted in making all of the lions stand on a row of high stools, each one a little higher than the one behind it. Mr. Jones climbed to the highest stool and sat down on the lion's back.

Can a Lion Be Tamed?

Animal trainers will tell you that a lion is never really tamed, that nothing but fear keeps him in subjection, and that sooner or later every lion rebels against his trainer and is kept in control only by physical violence. Mr. Jones, who has been going into the lion's den as unarmed as was Daniel, for 20 years, seem to be a living demonstration that some lions are really tame.

In his work about the zoo Mr. Jones wears a swallow tail coat and high silk hat. It has been suggested by some that the lions are completely overawed by his dignity.

A more remarkable proof of Mr. Jones's influence over animals is the way they respond to his voice. He utters a strange call and seals scramble out of the water at his feet, and great pelicans come flapping down to him. He does not feed them anything either. They seemingly come merely to acknowledge his greeting and they appear to take real pleasure in his presence. An orang-outang leaps into his arms like a baby child when he calls to it and he puts a tiger on the head as you would a house cat.

Mr. Jones is a great admirer of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and has named his zoo Longfellow Gardens in memory of the poet. Their proximity to Minnehaha Falls makes the name especially appropriate. A statue of Longfellow in heroic size ornaments the Gardens, and was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies. The house in which Mr. Jones lives is a replica of the Longfellow house, and contains a collection of things owned and used by Longfellow.

All in all, this is a most unusual zoo. For it is no mere meaningless collection of animals, but the expression of a human personality.

CHARGES AGAINST BIRGE
TAKEN UP BY STUDENTS

Special to Post-Crescent

Madison—Students of the University of Wisconsin are already talking of taking up the charges made by William Jennings Bryan against President E. A. Birge and demanding an investigation. They declare that in his charge that President Birge is an atheist, Bryan not only labeled President Birge but the university and state of Wisconsin and that an investigation of the matter should be held by the regents and if the charge is proven false, as they declare it is, that the Commorder should be compelled to retract his statements which he is said to have made on several occasions from the lecture platform.

CITY OFFERS COAL TO PEOPLE AT COST PRICE

Superior—The city of Superior has gone into the coal business and on Friday Mayor Baxter and members of the city commission announced they would fill orders for nut and cargo pea coal at $14.50 and $12.50 per ton, respectively.

The mayor announced further that he was offering the coal under the provisions of a 1917 statute which provides that cities may sell coal and ice at retail. Mayor Baxter operated a city market here a year ago this summer, which created quite a stir among local commission men, who fought him in several courts and finally secured an injunction preventing him from continuing the market.

City trucks are used for the delivery of the coal, which is sold C. O. D., and very little financing is needed by handling the coal in this manner. Mayor Baxter stated he could get all the an- thracite needed in Superior at these prices.

MEET FRIDAY TO DISCUSS VALLEY BOOSTER PROGRAM

Commercial Associations Will Launch Cooperative Advertising Project

Cities of this locality are about to "tell the world" of the wonderful advantages of the Fox river valley. Secretaries and representatives of the commercial associations of the cities of Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Neenah, Menasha and Green Bay and of the village of Combined Locks will meet in Appleton next Friday night to consider a plan whereby the Fox River valley would be advertised throughout the United States as a leading industrial and commercial center.

Farm agents from Brown, Outagamie, Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties also have been invited to the meeting. As at present outlined the plan is to buy advertising space in leading magazines and to advertise this locality along the following lines: 1. As a manufacturing center 2. As a prosperous dairy section 3. As offering cheap waterpower in both the Fox and Wolf rivers 4. For its diversification of industry 5. For its web of hard roads offering easy transportation between progressive cities 6. For its scenic beauties and recreational advantages for the tourist.

The six distinct advertisements would be prepared by the best advertising skill obtainable. Supplementing the advertising booklets would be sent to persons answering the advertisement. This booklet would contain a historical sketch of the valley and would show that the Fox River valley is the real gateway to the Mississippi valley, the richest and most prosperous section of the country.

It would contain a story of the industrial development of the valley written by an industrial expert. An article on the livestock of the valley would be prepared by an authority on animal husbandry and would have a place in the booklet. Expert artists and photographers would be called in to take pictures which would illustrate the scenic and industrial beauties of the valley in the advertisements.

A group membership plan was discussed for use in the annual membership drive and the executive committee, which consists of the employed officers of the Y M C A and the group chairman will work it out by Oct. 3. The plan will give a group of men who are working for one firm an opportunity to join the association while the company pays a proportion of the fee.

Comparisons on Necessities Will be Made for Years 1914, 1920 and 1921

A survey of retail prices which is to be a great factor in determining whether there is any foundation to the charge that merchants are largely responsible for the high cost of living has been begun by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Secretary Hugh G. Corbett.

In making the survey, the chamber is taking the position of a disinterested fourth party in the controversy between the merchant and the manufacturer and the employee.

The survey really consists of three men in one. Banks have been carefully prepared for each of the following necessities: Groceries, produce, meat, coal and building material, drugs and kindred articles, house rent, men's clothing, women's clothing, shoes, dry goods and sundries. Sundries will include carfare, amusements, barbering and all other costs which cannot be properly included in the other surveys.

Each survey will quote the 1914 price, the 1920 or peak price and the 1921 price. This has been decided as the most satisfactory way of comparing present costs with those of former times. The percentage feature will be omitted but cold dollars and cents will be quoted to show increases and declines.

Mr. Corbett shows how misleading percentage statements may be by quoting the case of the postage stamp. Postage was increased from two to three cents during the war. The increase represented an advance of 50 per cent. Then later the cost of a stamp was reduced from three cents to two cents. Considering three cents as the base, the decline has been only 33.3 per cent, yet the stamp costs no more now than before the war.

PROGRAM AT KESHENA FAIR IS NOVEL ONE

Quite a number of Appleton people attended the Keshena fair Thursday where they were entertained as there were many features not seen at the ordinary fair. Visitors greatly enjoyed a game of lacrosse and Indian pony racing. There was no ice skating and each Indian rode to win. One was thrown from his pony, but escaped serious injury. Among those who attended the fair were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tecklin, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Assman and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sager.

PLEA OF NON-SUPPORT WINS DIVORCE DECREE

Mrs. Mary Deeg was granted a divorce from Clifford Deeg on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and non-support in the circuit court before Judge E. V. Werer.

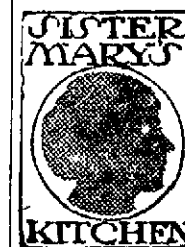

The two were married July 3, 1915 and lived at 460 Walther-ave. Mrs. Deeg was given the care and custody of the two minor children and proceeds from the property valued at $550 will be used for the children's benefit, through a trustee.

St. Joseph Masses

Soup For Crisp Days

There is nothing like soup as the first course for the full dinner. If the dinner is to be heavy, the soup should be a clear bouillon or consommé. If the dinner is light, the soup may be a cream vegetable, using both milk and white stock, or a strong brown stock thickened with a cereal or vegetables.

Brown Stock
Four pounds shin of beef, 1/2 pound lean beef, 2 quarts cold water, 3 small carrots, 1 large onion, 2 stalks celery and leaves, 1 tablespoonful salt, 1 teaspoon peppercorns.

Have the butcher saw through the bone in several places. Crack the piece having the least meat on it lengthwise. Cut the lean meat in small cubes and brown in fat and marrow from the bones and meat. It is important to do this as it gives the stock a richness of flavor. Put the rest of the meat and bones in the water and let stand fifteen or twenty minutes. Then add the browned meat and heat slowly to the boiling point. Remove scum as it rises. Cover loosely and simmer about four hours. Add vegetables cut in dice, salt and peppercorns and simmer an hour longer. Strain through double thick nesses of cheesecloth and serve at once. Or if there was quite a lot of fat in the meat, let cool after straining and remove the fat that rises to the top. This fat should be tried out and saved for fryings. As the stock cools it jellies. Of course this jelly melts when the stock is reheated for serving.

White Stock
Four pounds knuckle of veal, 1 onion, 1 small turnip, 2 stalks celery, 2 quarts water, 1 tablespoon salt, 12 peppercorns.

Have knuckle cracked by the butcher. Cut meat from bone and cut in small pieces. Put all ingredients in soup kettle. Heat slowly, skimming as often as necessary. Keep the kettle tightly covered. Simmer slowly five hours and strain through double thickness of cheese cloth. Cream of vegetable soup gains much in nourishment and flavor if made with stock as well as milk. Consommé is a combination of brown and white stock which has been carefully strained and cooled. The fat is removed and the stock cleared.

To clear stock put stock and egg shells into a kettle. Allow three egg shells to each quart of stock. Stir well and bring quickly to the boiling point. Let boil three minutes and add 1/2 cup cold water. Remove from fire and let stand four minutes. Strain through double cheesecloth. (Copyright 1921 N. E. A. Service)

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S. C.—"I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month. I was not able to do any work and tried a lot of medicines but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. You may print this letter if you wish."—ELIZABETH EDMUND, S. C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

Appleton Man Drives STUDEBAKER LIGHT SIX in the Rockies

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 10, 1921
Valley Motor Car Co. Appleton, Wis.
Gentlemen—
We left Appleton on August 10th and returned Sept. 13th. Our party consisted of four people. We carried a complete camping outfit and each and every night was spent in our own tent with the exception of one night at a hotel owing to illness of one of our party. Our destination was "SEE AMERICA FIRST." One week was spent in the Yellowstone Park. We entered the park at the eastern or Cody entrance, leaving at the northern entrance at Gardiner. While in the Yellowstone Park we experienced no difficulty whatever in making all of the most extreme grades including a trip to the very top of Mt. Washburn, an elevation of 10,303 feet. After leaving the Yellowstone park we toured around the state of Montana visiting all of the principal cities including the Capital of the state. Total mileage covered was 4,016. 250 gallons of gasoline and 26 1/2 quarts of lubricating oil were consumed. Lubricating oil was changed every thousand miles, this figures 16 miles per gallon of gas and 150 miles per quart of oil, and as considerable part of our trip was made in the Rocky Mountains, encountering very steep grades, this record looks particularly interesting with a Studebaker Light Six.

Sincerely yours,
J. W. VanAlstyne

1921 Fall Opening 1921

Wraps

Far from the beaten path, have journeyed Coat Styles for Fall. Indeed, they've strayed so far that one wonders if Coats haven't been transformed for all time into Wraps, so indifferent are they of conventional sleeves. So gracefully variable are their lines! French influence is seen in the wide Jenny sleeve, and in slashed Directoire models. Shoulder lines are inclined to be very low, and huge collar or cape effects are partial to fur—in fact, fur is positively reckless, in its usage. Pelts are natural and dyed Caracul, Squirrel, Mole, Beaver and Seal — Fashions latest whim being to apply Caracul in long tuxedo effects, reaching from collar to hem. Cape styles, and those with marchioness backs are smart. Deep piled fabrics of Parvelaine, Bolivia and Veldyne, have adapted deep, gorgeous shades of Genoese, red, forest browns, Balsam, Sorrento, Volnay and Terre cuite. Linings of brocaded crepes are harmonious.

Begins Monday and Continues Throughout The Week

Beautiful, brilliant, is the season it launches—the season whose fashions are given authoritative presentation here.

For the same high skill in selection which recognizes only the fine and worthy, is evidenced in every charming collection of new suits, frocks, wraps, furs, hats, the fashions for youth and every accompanying accessory.

All is in complete readiness. The need of the fall and winter wardrobe may be chosen this Opening Week with confidence in their immediate and continued success.

Suits

Of what beguiling charm are the new Suits! They are far from being the plain uncompromising thing they once were! Skirts, those adhering to the slim silhouette, show panels that hang lower than the skirt itself. Coats are delightful in their vagaries. Cape and blouse types with smart vestee effects, and pinched—in flare coats are to the fore. Sleeves show Jenny reigns and are wide, or directoire methods are pursued. Fur, embroidery showing metal threads, and braid, trim these new arrivals. Caracul fur is a new trimming favorite. Paris has sent over some all-fur suits that are extremely chic! In fabrics, deep-piled ones, bevels, homespuns and gabardines are favorites. Even the colors are interesting—Balsam, Terre cuite, Volnay, Genoese, Red and Forest browns. The vogue for black is emphatic, and Fur is used in an almost recklessly luxuriant fashion that imparts a charm all its own. Prices are just about half compared with the qualities of last season.

Evening Apparel

The new evening Gowns! What a gracious regal dignity the new Evening Gowns possess. Fabrics are gorgeous brocades, lustrous satin, and splendid velvets in imperial shade of heliotrope, green and coral. Metal cloth, and chantilly lace in black and rust, lace draped all-over Guipure lace, over Crackneline Silk girdled in wooden beads is one of the interesting modes in these Fashion Displays. Paneled trains, hung at the sides or side front, will force fair wearers who have previously put their faith in a demure little kick at just the right time and place, to learn all over again! Trimmings include pearl chains, spangles, jet and gorgeous embroideries. Evening wraps are impressive in metal brocaded crepes, satin, velvet and rare furs.

Millinery

The romantic and picturesque meet in millinery. From the canvas of old masters the colors might have been taken. Eminence purple, sunset brown are noted. Hats which take black and white for their motif are among the newest.

Gainsborough painted such graceful brims. Versailles, sweeping plumes like these. Hats may be large or small, according to one's taste. Paris, however chooses large hats for almost every occasion. Prices are $7.50 to $25.00.

Furs

There's much of magnificence in the new Furs. Wraps have a beauty that is almost barbaric. So prodigal is their use of fur! Cuffs and Sleeves are voluminous. Collars are more so, often extending into tuxedo fronts of the same or contrast fur, reaching to the hem, the wrap itself is inclined toward Cape lines. Fur pelts of exceedingly soft texture of Broadtail, Caracul, Persian, Astrakan, Squirrel, Mole and Seal, lend themselves to the new silhouette. Coatees reaching to the hips are favorites with smartly frocked women. Flying Squirrel and Wiscatahe are new trimmings and small furs in choker and scarf style employ Marten, White Fox, Sable, Mink, Fitch, Fisher and Mole, and so moderately Priced!

BRANDT TEAM IS PRIMED FOR BIG BATTLE TOMORROW

WILL PLAY LAST GAME OF SERIES WITH OVERALLS

Appleton Nine Will Have Its Regular Machine With Expectation of Spies

Sunday's Schedule
Oshkosh at Appleton.
Fond du Lac at Menasha.
Spies, speedy little shortstop, will be the only man missing in the Brandt regular lineup Sunday when Appleton and Oshkosh meet on the local park for the last time this season. Spies will play in Milwaukee instead.

Hank Schultz is bringing a reputation man with him to fill Spies' place. So Brandt will enter the diamond with at least the same strength they have exhibited throughout the summer.

Oshkosh announces two changes in the Overall aggregation. Bruntigan of the Canadian league will play third base. Bruntigan formerly was an Appleton lad and played on the old Wisconsin-Illinois league. Reports are that he has done some tall ball playing since he left the Crescent City and will give his old home town a good exhibition.

Covington of Chicago will play centerfield. Heretofore he has played third base. With these two men added to his crew Manager Streckbauer declares he has a stronger team than ever. Brandt's management believes the reorganized Overall are more formidable than Menasha and on this account are determined to send their men into the diamond in the proper form and pitch to make things hum. Schultz, Shott and Mudloff arrived early Saturday from Milwaukee and went on a duck hunt. Their outing will stimulate their ability for Sunday's battle. It is expected.

Menasha will find herself bucking a big league when Ruerpings attempt to trim them Sunday. Brandt has received word that Helms Schultz will take the mound. Helms played with the New York Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Milwaukee Brewers. He is a southpaw and a demon in the box. This summer he has been making things hum on the Iron range for Menominee. Makes Menasha's chance at the cusp a little bit shaky, they say.

MAY DECLINE GAME WITH MICHIGAN "U"

Stevens Point Normal Will Meet Lawrence for First Home Game of Schedule

The University of Michigan has requested a game with the Lawrence football squad at Ann Arbor on Nov. 5. This is an open date immediately before the big Lawrence-Ripon game on the home field. Michigan has one of the best university teams in the middle west. It is thought that Coach McChesney will not send his men on the long trip so soon before the most important game in the Little Five conference.

The football season for the Lawrence squad opens a week from Saturday with the University of Wisconsin at Madison. Stevens Point Normal plays here for the first home game. The schedule up to date follows:

- Oct. 1—University of Wisconsin at Madison.
- Oct. 5—Stevens Point Normal at Appleton.
- Oct. 15—Oshkosh Normal at Appleton.
- Oct. 22—Beloit at Appleton.
- Oct. 29—Northwestern at Watertown.
- Nov. 5—Open Date.
- Nov. 12—Ripon at Appleton.
- Nov. 19—Carroll at Waukesha.

FOOTBALL SEASON MAKES ITS DEBUT

New York—Football butts in today on a crowded sport page for its 1921 debut.

The east swings into action with Yale, Harvard, Penn., Pittsburgh, Penn State, Dartmouth and Syracuse in action.

California opens the season on the coast. Centre and Georgia technical stage their coming out party in the south and Notre Dame opens the season in the west.

Harvard plays a double header with Middlebury and Boston; Yale plays Bates; Notre Dame opposes Kalamazoo and California goes against St. Mary's.

BLAINE'S AUTO WRECKED; CHAUFFEUR IS INJURED

Madison—The governor's new sedan was wrecked on Thursday on a bridge over the Rock river, five miles east of Watertown. Sanford Reque, the chauffeur, was bruised.

The car swerved on a slippery road and crashed into the side of the bridge. Gov. Blaine was not in the car, which was being driven to Madison after being repaired in Milwaukee.

SPEAKER HASN'T GIVEN UP HOPE YET

Indians Think They Can Trim Yanks Before "Croocial" Series Is Over

New York—Tris Speaker has a bunch of fighters. Otherwise the Cleveland Indians could be counted out of the American league pennant race right now.

Having dropped the first game of the "crocial series" with the Yanks and with Stan Coveleskie, the first man of the pitching staff defeated, the Indians ought to be in a sad plight.

After he had lost the first two games in the world series last fall in Brooklyn, Speaker said:

"What is the little thing like two games? Just wait."

The gray haired leader of the world's champions fell back on the same doctrine today with a short "Just wait." There are three more games.

The first battle yesterday was witnessed by a crowd of 30,000, and the second conflict today promises to draw a crowd of 40,000.

This morning before the fog had lifted off the Harlem river a little band of champion fans were without the gates.

Huggins was expected to call upon Carl Mays, the submarine hurler to go after the second game of the series, but Speaker's pitching selection was not so sure. The Indian chief had Mays ready but he gave no indication of his choice.

The Babe won the game himself yesterday, with three doubles and three runs.

He Brings 'Em Luck

Babe Ruth and Mascot Eddie Bennett Snapped in the Yank's Dugout.

By Bob Dorman
Babe Ruth may be the champion home-run batter of the universe, but Eddie Bennett of Brooklyn holds the laurels when it comes to mascot.

It was in 1919 that Eddie first took up his job as mascot to his league ball clubs.

Being a pal of Hap Felsch, star outfielder of the White Sox, Eddie was put into a Chicago uniform by Felsch and taken on the road as the official mascot of the team.

The White Sox were victors in the American League race although they lost the world series in a somewhat smelly manner.

After the expose of the Black Sox, Eddie, who loves baseball with all his heart and soul, turned to the home club, and became the official mascot of Robbies warriors, the Brooklyn team of 1920.

How well he succeeded in his job is shown by the fact that the Robins surprised all the experts, and copped the flag.

Eddie blames the loss of the world series pennant to the fact that he was not taken along by the team when it went to Cleveland, where the Dodgers suffered four straight defeats.

"Didn't I mascot 'em to two wins out of three on the home grounds? And then look what happened when they went to Cleveland without me," says Eddie.

Discussed by being left at home by Brooklyn, he joined the Yankees this year.

"And just look at 'em," says Eddie. "They're going to win, sure. With me to bring 'em luck, and 'Babe' to hit home runs, they just can't lose."

And now Danny Frush claims the feather title. Claims Referee Kelly admitted that Kilbane fouled him in refusing to count Danny out in the first round and that therefore Danny was entitled to the fight on this foul.

All right, Dan, have it your own way!

At the end of the first round you were the featherweight champion of the world.

But your manager, Sammy Harris, in permitting you to answer the bell for the second round, threw you back into a championship fight on an even keel, Danny. And who you wound up, the birdies were singing.

Who's entitled to the title under those conditions, Danny?

Do your world series shopping early.

The reason

The colleges of the south have always had good athletics.

Centre College has long been noted for its strong teams.

But nobody got wise to it until Moran, of baseball fame, put on the cleats and started telling the world about them.

Put he it from us to butt in on the Wilson affair, but Mike Gibbons' address is St. Paul, Minn.

Between the 111 pounds 8 ounces of oxygen and the 2 pounds of calcium that help to make up the average man, it's no wonder some folks get themselves so much before the public.

Time to dust off the adding machines. Cricket scorekeepers are going to get busy.

Heard at the featherweight scrap: "If Kilbane's an old man, I hope I age rapidly."

"Babe'll make a home run every day during the series," says Mrs. Lambino. From the plate or the dressing room?

EAST AND WEST TO MEET IN TOURNEY

Guilford and Gardner Will Try for National Amateur Golf Title

St. Louis Country Club, Clayton, Mo.—East met west here Saturday for the national amateur golf championship.

Jesse Guilford, Boston "siege gun," clashed with Bob Gardner, Chicago. The length of the match will be 36 holes. 18 to be played this morning, beginning around 10 a. m. and the last half in the afternoon, starting at 2 p. m.

Gardner has held the title twice and was runner-up in the British championship last year. Guilford got as far as the semi-finals in the tourney at Merion, in 1916 and captured the open championship last year.

Experts picked Gardner to tuck the title under his belt because of his record and experience.

Guilford knocked the crown off Charles (Chick) Evans' head yesterday by beating him, 6 and 5. It was one of the soundest drubbings of Evans' spectacular golf career. William I. Hunter, Evans' pride, was eliminated by Gardner, 6 and 4.

Watching The Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero: Babe Ruth hit three doubles and scored three runs while the Yanks were beating the Indians 4 to 2 in the first game of the series for the pennant.

Hamilton's tight pitching and timely batting enabled the pirates to beat the Phils 2 to 0.

Using a team of rookies the Cubs defeated the Braves 18 to 5.

Judge singled in the ninth inning with the bases filled and the Senators beat the Tigers 2 to 1.

The Athletics rose up and took two from the White Sox at 4 to 0, and 3 to 1.

The Browns and the Red Sox divided one, the Browns winning the first 10 to 2 and losing the second 10 to 5.

JOHNSON STEPS BACK INTO RING WITH MORAN

Montreal, Que.—Jack Johnston, former heavyweight champion of the world will make his first appearance in a ring since his release from Mount Royal prison on October 28 when he is matched to fight ten rounds with Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavyweight.

BOWLERS TO FORM 12-TEAM LEAGUE

Representatives of Local Alleys Will Meet to Discuss League Oct. 4

Anxious to add zest to the winter's leading indoor sport, members of the Appleton bowling leagues are getting their heads together for the organization of a local twelve-team league.

Successful organization of the league, will lead to the formation of an Appleton Bowling association to be affiliated with the Wisconsin Bowling association and thus give the Crescent City a place in state bowling circles.

According to present plans the 12 teams would be distributed among local alleys as follows: Eagles, 2; Elks, 2; Jenns Arcade, 4; Olympic alleys, 2; Y. M. C. A., 2. The schedule of plays would be so arranged that one team would play on its home alleys while the other team or teams would be on neighboring alleys. All teams would bowl on Tuesday night so bowlers would have the opportunity of playing in any other bowling club at any other time during the week.

One representative from each bowling team in the city will meet Oct. 4 for the purpose of organization. Formation of rules and regulations to govern games and methods will be taken up at this meeting and some definite action will be taken in regard to forming a bowling association to ally itself with the state bowlers. Promoters of the plan declare that Appleton's entrance into membership in the state organization would be the means of bringing state tournaments here and would give a great impetus to the game.

CURZON THRIVES ON LAMPOONING AMONG ENGLISH

Rise of English Lord in Government and Politics Was Remarkable One

By Milton Branner
Special to Post-Crescent
London.—The most lampooned man in Great Britain is Earl Curzon of Kedleston, foreign minister and possible British delegate to the world disarmament conference soon to be held in Washington.

Upstage—that's Curzon, always! He doesn't seem to see anyone outside of his set. If a man is of ordinary height, he looks over him. If he's too tall for that, he looks through him—just as if he weren't there.

Lampooning doesn't bother Curzon; if he notices it, he thrives on it. It began in his Oxford student days when he went there from Eton, the elder son of the Reverend Alfred Curzon, a preacher and fourth Baron of Scarsdale. Young Curzon won honors in college.

At 26 Curzon became assistant private secretary to Marquis of Salisbury, who a short time later became premier. Then Curzon was elected to Parliament as a Tory and began to make his mark in Commons.

Becomes Viceroy
As a result he was made under-secretary of state for India in 1891 and under-secretary for foreign affairs in 1895. He traveled extensively in the Orient, this experience coming in handy in 1893 when he was made viceroy of India and also, created an English peer.

In 1895 he wed the beautiful and rich Mary Leiter, daughter of old Levi Leiter, multimillionaire grain plunger of Chicago and Washington. Three daughters were born to him of that marriage, the oldest recently marrying a member of Parliament.

Curzon as viceroy proved a strenuous ruler. He completely overhauled and speeded up the governmental machine. His career came to an end when he had a dispute with the commander-in-chief of the Indian army about matters of military policy. Curzon resigned because the government did not support him.

He was made an earl in 1911 and entered the government once more during the war. He became lord president of the council and leader for the government in the House of Lords, which job he still holds.

It was during the war that Curzon and Lloyd George, once enemies, became fast friends.

As secretary of foreign affairs, Curzon has come into conflict with Lord Northcliffe, the newspaper owner. Northcliffe, who vehemently opposed the appointment of the "om in in" and pretentious minister as a disarmament delegate.

It was Curzon who lately called off the British embassy banquet to Northcliffe in Washington.

If Curzon should go to the Harding conference at Washington, he may take the present Lady Curzon, who, like her predecessor, is an American.

The first Lady Curzon died 15 years ago. Curzon married again in 1916, his bride being a daughter of the late J. M. Hinds, at one time American minister to Brazil. She was the wealthy widow of Alfred Duggan of Buenos Ayres.

In their great house on Carlton Terrace, the Curzons are noted for the splendor of their entertainments—and they may set a pace in Washington.

TOO PATRIOTIC TO TAKE $300 A WEEK

Sergt. York, Outstanding War Hero, Will Not Exploit His Experiences

Cleveland, O.—"I could have anything in the world that I want, but—my conscience simply will not permit me to exploit patriotism."

Sergeant Alvin C. York, whom General Pershing called "the greatest hero of the World War," had just finished an evangelistic address before a religious gathering at Nazarene Tabernacle here. He had held a packed hall interested for close to an hour with a "heart to heart talk on conscience."

"The day I left for Cleveland," said York, "I received an offer from a vaudeville concern in New York. They proposed to pay me $300 a week, on a 20-week contract, for speaking 30 minutes from the stage each evening."

Spurns Offer
"I didn't answer the offer. I'm not interested in making money out of patriotism. It is only one of many offers that I have had and turned down."

And this, in spite of the fact that there is a $12,500 mortgage on York's farm near Fall Bluff, Tenn., which soon will be due.

"If I could stand in the open on

This is the first picture in many months of Harry K. Thaw. It was taken in the grounds of Kirkbride Asylum, Philadelphia. LACK OF GOLD IS CAUSE OF GERMAN MARK'S DECLINE

No Scheme to Avoid Payment of Indemnity Is Seen in Money Situation

By J. W. T. Mason
Special to Post-Crescent

New York.—The German mark is falling because Germany is continuing to issue paper money without increasing her gold reserve.

At present the German government has one gold mark in reserve for every 90 paper marks being circulated. The proportion should be one in three for the German currency to be on a safe basis.

The fall in marks has nothing to do with any effort by Germany to evade paying the war indemnity. The indemnity can be paid for the most part only in German goods.

The fall in marks will make it more difficult for Germany to purchase raw materials abroad which must be used in producing manufactured articles to be sold in foreign markets for meeting the indemnity demands.

But, by no possibility could the German government deliberately cause a fall in marks so as to compel Germany manufacturers to pay more for their raw materials.

French Wrong
French criticisms that Germany is deliberately arranging to go into bankruptcy as a way of wiping out the indemnity have no basis, in fact.

German bankruptcy would not disturb the amount of actual goods in Germany, and these goods are the counters in the indemnity matter.

It is more likely that the French criticism of Germany's financial weakness is preparatory to an admission by French financiers and economists that the time has come when France herself cannot continue to accept German goods on the indemnity account.

These goods already are beginning to disturb the French markets at home and abroad. French manufacturers are feeling the enforced German competition.

If Germany continues to pay the indemnity in the form of her own manufactured articles for an indefinite time, France will become Germany's economic vassal.

It is now being admitted in official financial circles in Paris that a new way must be found for accepting the indemnity. No feasible method of acceptance has yet been devised. If none is forthcoming, then France will have to let Germany off.

French fear of German bankruptcy, therefore, is an artificial fear. The greater fear in France is that France herself will have to admit before long that Germany must be prevented from paying.

Effect on France
This will not mean France's own bankruptcy. There is still a large margin in France for increasing taxation, and enormous sums of money can be saved if France will reduce her present standing army of 800,000 men to a reasonable basis.

By these methods of increasing domestic revenue and decreasing governmental expenses, France eventually will be able to safeguard herself against financial disaster without the German indemnity.

The decline in value of the German mark is one more argument showing that the heavily depreciated paper money of Europe never will return to par.

How to stabilize the mark is a problem that has no solution in sight. The difficulty is to balance the external and internal value of the mark.

my farm and say, 'This is MY farm,' then things would be about as bright for my wife and myself as they possibly could be," York continued.

"The farm was given me by friends in Tennessee. They paid $8,250 down, leaving a balance of $18,750, to be cleared in four installments. The first payment has been made and the second is due on November 18. About $5,000 must be paid at that time. "Whether my friends will be able to make that payment, I cannot say.

little more—. But they're giving me a chance to talk religion—an opportunity to attempt to help other men to see the right way. That means more to me than talking from a vaudeville stage for money."

York was asked if he would accept a captaincy with retired pay, if the McKellar bill, which provides that, is passed by Congress.

"Certainly," he said, "that is, if I don't have to parade before the public to get it."

Announcing Our Formal Fall Opening

Which Fills Each Day Next Week With Brilliant Fashion Displays

THE FORMAL OPENING OF THE FALL AND WINTER SEASONS will take place in this store next week. At this time there will be presented for your inspection elaborate collections of every new and good thing in the world of Fashion. Gowns, suits and coats, just arrived from New York, representing the best work of foremost American and Parisian designers. Ultra-smart millinery creations, exclusive designs in dress accessories. Rich new shades, the most approved style effects—new sleeves, new hem lines, the Spanish influence in dress—are all included in the showings of Opening Week.

On Monday evening, between the hours of seven and nine, we will hold a formal opening reception. Nothing can be purchased during the evening. Every department of the store will be showing the latest merchandise arrivals for Fall and Winter. Your inspection of these displays is invited.

Frocks for Autumn

SHOULD one suddenly awake from a Rip Van Winkle sleep in the midst of the modes of the hour, perplexity would but mildly indicate his mental state. Whether the age was mid-Victorian, Spanish Inquisitorial, Revolution, Renaissance, the Reign of the Louis, or the Age of the Prophet and Sagas, would be difficult to determine.

To the picturesque and beautiful in all of them we are indebted for a fashion showing that rivals in splendour the pageant of long forgotten centuries. Yet apparently not a practical feature has been sacrificed to accomplish the extraordinary beauty of these fashions of today.

Gowns for street, afternoon, dinner and evening wear will have an important part in the showings of the week.

Handsome Wraps

NEW Autumn wraps are in two widely differing types, reflecting two distinct silhouettes which characterize the present mode. The trimness of the ripple skirt and fitted bodice with the high choker of fur presents a decided contrast to the more carelessly draped lines of the wrap. Dropped shoulders, wide sleeves and irregular hem, Tuxedo collars, and the Russian blouse are interesting new features. There is a richness about fashion and fabric both appealing and becoming.

Evening apparel is aglitter with sequins, lovely flower decorations and brilliant color. Gowns of net and metal cloth rank with lace and velvet models for popular favor.

The Smart Tailleur

SUITS for Autumn present an unwonted diversity in fashioning that gives generous opportunity for personal preference and assures a satisfaction unknown to other years. Dark tones and straight lines are plentiful for those of reserved tastes. Brighter colorings, elaborate embellishment, uneven hems, novel collars and abundant sleeves are featured in dressier models. Profuse quantities of fur trimmings are noted on suits of every type.

Squirrel, mole, neutria, Krimmer, slynx, wolf, beaver, Kolynski and Australian Opossum are numbered among the furs that adorn new suits. In fabrics are moussyn, veldyne, duvet de laine, duvetyn, velour, Poiret twill and mochatex.

Sorrento blue and navy, burro and Malay brown, sphinx and black are numbered among the approved shades.

Picturesque Millinery

TO the bal du Grand Prix we are indebted for the rich fuchsia colorings which so beautify many new Fall hats, scarcely less lovely than the glorious shades of voiline, when posed against black or navy hatters plush. Carved Spanish combs for trimming hint of old world romance, and fur cocardes vie with glycerined ostrich for smartness.

For sheer richness of color and fabric, beauty of trimming, and variety—our millinery presentation of this season has never been surpassed by past collections. The best models of the season have been gathered together for next week's showings.
